WILSON WILL NOT
YIELD TO HUERTA

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 19.—Mediation stands today on the brink of failure. Only concessions by President Wilson or Huerta can save it.

While the Niagara conference halted, Minister Naon, of Argentina, one of the three South American mediators, returned to Washington for a conference with Secretary Bryan and probably to see President Wilson.

He plans to start back to Niagara Falls tonight to carry the word as to whether the conference will proceed or disband.

Announcement at the White House that the President stands squarely on the principles enunciated in the statement of the American delegates seemed to make it certain that the United States will not be satisfied with anything less than the choice of a man approved by the Constitutionists to head the new provisional government.

The firm attitude of the Huerta delegates for the so-called "neutral" seemed to hold out no hope for a break in the deadlock. The situation, admittedly at another crisis, was discussed in the cabinet meeting and there was some thought of an official statement from the President himself informing the public in full in case mediation fails. Officials closest to the President declare that all talk of further armed intervention or of recognition of Carranza or Villa, at this stage, is unfounded.

Wilson stands firmly on the statement given out at Niagara Falls by the American delegates and will accept no settlement of the Mexican problem which is not based on the principles outlined therein.

HARE CAST
LONE VOTE

By Associated Press.

New York, June 19.—The Democratic state committee, in session here today, mustered only one vote for a proposition that the party place itself on record at the approaching primaries as either for or against Tammany Hall. Montgomery Hare, who proposed the resolution, was the only delegate who voted for it.

EMPERSS HAD BAD GEARING
SAYS SADJE

By Associated Press.

Quebec, June 19.—Odin Sadje, second mate of the steamship, Alden, testified at the Empress of Ireland inquiry today that when the Empress passed his ship on the St. Lawrence river shortly before the fatal collision with the collier, Storstad, he noted that the Empress was steering badly and he had to port his helm to avoid her.

The testimony was introduced by counsel for the Storstad owners in corroboration of the testimony yesterday of James Galway, the quarter-master of the Empress, who said the

This was made clear today by officials after the President had had an early conference with Secretary Bryan. If mediation fails the President plans to issue a statement fully informing the public of the position of the administration.

NAON RUSHES TO CAPITAL

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 19.—Romulo S. Naon, Minister from Argentina, and one of the mediators at the Niagara Falls conference, arrived here unexpectedly today. He did not go to the legation but took quarters in a hotel near the White House.

The return of the mediator to the capital, undoubtedly for a conference with Secretary Bryan or President Wilson, or both, at a time when the Niagara conference is marking time and threatened with failure, was regarded as highly significant.

It was thought that the mediator's visit had been one of the subjects of discussion between the President and the Secretary of State early today. It was understood that conferences with administration officials had been arranged for later in the day.

Mr. Naon and Secretary Bryan took luncheon together privately and later the Argentine minister went to the state department for a further conference. Neither would make a statement.

vessel's steering gear was defective. "Were you afraid of a collision?" Sadje was asked.

"I was. I was going to call the captain," said the witness. He added that the Empress had passed on the port side, half a mile away.

The American polo players were beaten at their own game in the first match for the international trophy. Last year our boys started off with a rush and had the invaders all at sea in no time. This year it was a different story. The Englishmen started from the stroke of the bell and kept going like "furries" till the game ended. Cheape and Barrett are two of the most elusive men on horseback that ever visited these shores, and Tomkinson and Lockett played in wonderful form.

Liege, Belgium, June 19.—Two hundred coal miners were entombed in the Vieille Marihaye colliery near here when fire broke out today. Two hundred comrades escaped when the alarm was given. The fire is still raging this afternoon and every effort is being made to rescue the miners.

Calgary, Alberta, June 19.—Two hundred men are believed to have been trapped and killed as the result of an explosion in the Hill Crest collieries near Franklin, on the Crow's Nest line, this morning. About 600 men went into the mine before the explosion occurred. More than 400 escaped, but 200 are left and it is said there is no hope for them.

BAFFLING
MYSTERY

By Associated Press.

Ashtabula, O., June 19.—The police are baffled over the mysterious finding of Albert Randall, 35, a street car motorman, in the front of his home here early today with three bullet holes in his head while his house was burning. Randall was half dressed and wrapped in a blanket when found. He drew $60 pay yesterday and it is thought that robbery was the motive of the crime.

BOTH SIDES HOLD ON TENACIOUSLY

By Associated Press.

Niagara Falls, June 19.—The American and Huerta delegates hold firmly today to the opposite views expressed by them in public statements signifying the type of man desired by each side for provisional president of Mexico. Both sides have gone on record before the world with the prospect that neither will give way and the deadlock will result in the complete breakdown of mediation.

Only the abandonment of the academic discussion of the type of man and the continuance of the search for an individual acceptable to all, can return the situation from its hopeless state toward the channel of possible solution.

The American delegates still have some names to submit but the Huerta delegates have opposed energetically all persons suggested thus far and there is little likelihood that any name from the American delegates will be considered.

Shortly before noon the mediators announced that no conferences would be held until tomorrow because Minister Naon of Argentina had gone to Washington. It was understood that he seeks to learn at first hand if the American secretary of state has any information that would seem to make it advisable to continue the conference.

Just before the American delegates were notified that there would be no conference today they were in communication with the Washington government by telephone. It is understood that they received instructions to stand by their attitude as outlined in the statement of last night and to insist on the acceptance of the American plan.

If mediation ends, but for the presence of American troops at Vera Cruz, it is believed the American government might resume its attitude of passive observation while the two contending factions in Mexico settled the issue. It is this phase of the situation, however, which embarrasses the American government and by which the course of developments, it is believed, may be shaped.

WILSON STANDS FIRM IN MEXICAN PEACE PROPOSAL

Provisional Head of Mexico Must Be a Constitutionalist.

AMERICAN ATTITUDE DEFINED

Delegates Representing the United States at the Mediation Conference Reply to the Note of the Mexican Representatives—Here That No Man Not Acceptable to Rebels Would Be Able to Restore Peace.

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 19.—After hours of indecision as to whether or not it would be advisable to give out the reply made by the United States representatives to the note of the Mexican delegates to the mediation conference, Justice Lamar decided to make public the note. The salient point of this message is that the United States government does not yield an inch from its demand that a Constitutionalist be appointed provisional president of Mexico. The statement explains that in the opinion of the Wilson administration no man will be able to restore peace in the southern republic who is not acceptable to the Constitutionalists, who are held to be the dominant party in Mexico.

The Wilson plan as outlined by Justice Lamar and Mr. Lehmann is that elections to be held in Mexico be supervised by representatives of both parties. The delegates promise that all the influence which the United States can legitimately use will be exerted to secure an honest election. The board which will be appointed to supervise the election will, reject the plan, repudiate the man and press forward with renewed zeal to Mexico City with all the loss of blood and life that may involve.

It is generally agreed here that this marks the end of mediation so far as the Huerta interests are concerned. What will follow no one ventures to predict. Those who are close to the Mexican delegates declared that Senors Elgero and Rodriguez will not change their stand, and it is openly predicted that they will withdraw at once.

The American statement says in part:

"If those selected by the mediators to administer the provisional government of Mexico have the confidence of the Constitutionalists, a long step will have been taken towards the pacification of Mexico without furnishing any occasion for alarm to those Mr. Rabasa represents. For if the plan is accepted by General Huerta and General Carranza, the cessation of arms and do not expect to return until next Friday or Saturday.

"Banking affairs throughout the state are assuming a better, stronger, and more conservative tone," said Secretary Rankin in his address. "There have been several failures during the year, but nearly all were small banks. With one or two exceptions, the liquidation has been handled so as not to cause loss to depositors."

Mr. Rankin praised what he called "the good work" of the state banking department. "Emery W. Lattimer, superintendent of banks, is constantly endeavoring to strengthen the incorporated and private banks."

Mr. Rankin urged the establishment of a mutual fidelity and burglary insurance company by Ohio bankers.

Members of the American Bankers' Association attending the convention expected to hold a dinner this evening and nominate a vice-president for Ohio, member of the executive council and member of the nominating committee.

SETTLEMENT IS NOT SHOWING UP

Columbus, June 19.—Ohio's coal mine controversy, between operators and striking miners, is no nearer solution. A short session following the latest reference of the difficulties to a joint committee failed to bring the severed relations any closer together. According to the decision reached by this committee, it is said, the result will either be a settlement soon or an early demonstration that settlement is not possible under circumstances now existent.

The bankers expect to be in session for business and addresses until tonight. They will start tomorrow on a steamer trip to Duluth, Minn.

OHIO BANKERS HOLD SESSION

Banking Business Assumes Stronger Tone—Agitation for New Laws—State Banking Department Praised—Mutual Burglary Insurance Company Advocated—Bankers Will Take Steamer to Duluth.

By Associated Press.

Cedar Point, O., June 19.—Discussion of how to protect banks and merchants against bad check workers occupied part of the opening session of the Ohio Bankers' Association's 24th annual convention here today.

"If merchants insist on cashing checks for entire strangers they must expect to be victimized occasionally," said S. B. Rankin, of South Charleston, secretary of the association, in his report. "Some banks think we should furnish protection to our customers, but that would be impossible. You might install a system of education for the benefit of your customers, but I fear it would do little good. Bankers know how to protect themselves."

A few bankers expressed themselves as in favor of a drastic law to punish any person who writes a check for an amount greater than he has in the bank, such as was proposed at the special legislative session last winter. Most agreed it should be framed to exclude the regular bank customer who accidentally overchecks his account.

The bankers expect to be in session for business and addresses until tonight. They will start tomorrow on a steamer trip to Duluth, Minn.

With Roosevelt Not Speaking?

The announcement is made that on account of serious throat trouble Colonel Roosevelt will not make any speeches during the coming campaigns.

That news is at once distressing to the personal friends of the ex-President and discouraging to his political followers.

The members of the Progressive party had been counting fully as much upon the efforts of Colonel Roosevelt and his activity in a strenuous speaking campaign as they had upon the inherent strength of their party platform, as means to securing a heavy vote in the elections this fall.

It is doubtful if there is another man in the United States today, who commands as large a political following as Colonel Roosevelt.

He can, perhaps, by personal activity, influence as many voters as any other man. With Colonel Roosevelt on the stump actually, openly and actively fighting for the principles of the Progressive party, the members of that political organization had reason to feel encouraged over the prospect of ultimate success.

With Colonel Roosevelt unable to give support in an active speaking campaign the Progressive party is bound to lose some of that enthusiastic confidence so essential to success.

With Colonel Roosevelt absent from the firing line in the campaign this fall, no matter how sincerely he may favor the party policies, one of the greatest, if not the greatest, incentive to the Progressives to fight is lost, and the strength of the third party in the forthcoming campaign ceases to be one about which any intelligent estimate can be made. It becomes rather a matter of guess work.

Political leaders, many of them, will be quick to attribute the absence of Colonel Roosevelt from the stump during the campaign to other causes than that now announced. The effect of such an announcement will serve also to encourage those whom Colonel Roosevelt has opposed politically and for that reason will render the Progressive party strength in the fall elections a debatable question.

Personal and political followers of Colonel Roosevelt are hopeful that the sentence of absolute cessation from a speaking campaign, which the physicians have pronounced, will be modified and that in spite of the gloomy outlook at present, the voice of the strenuous ex-President may be heard this fall in all its eloquent advocacy of the principles of the Progressive party which he launched at Chicago two years ago.

No political organization in the history of the nation ever registered the strength, in the initial campaign of its existence, that the Progressive party registered in the campaign of 1912. That that strength was largely due to the popularity and the activities—the personal strength, if you please—of Colonel Roosevelt, no student of affairs will seriously deny. Few men in the history of this country have broken away from their political moorings and launched a new political party with the brilliant audacity and under the spectacular surroundings that Col. Roosevelt did at Chicago. Few men ever occupied the public position which made it possible to do so. The assertion that the birth of the Progressive party and its phenomenal showing two years ago was largely due to Colonel Roosevelt can not be denied.

Whether, successful in its initial campaign, that party will be able to hold its original strength and to gain more strength with the party founder unable to speak in its defense and in advocacy of its principles is a question which can only be answered after the votes are counted out next November.

The announcement that Colonel Roosevelt will be unable to make any political speeches this fall has brought about a considerable change on the face of the political chess board and others will be made if the orders of Colonel Roosevelt's physicians are enforced literally and strictly.

No Problem but Can Be Settled In Better Way Than by Arms

By the Rev. H. ALFORD BOOGS of Princeton Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia

IN TIMES OF PEACE LOOK OUT FOR WAR. WAR, I SAY, WAS BORN IN HELL. THERE IS NO PROBLEM SO DIFFICULT, BUT CAN BE SETTLED IN A BETTER WAY THAN BY FORCE OF ARMS. SOME OF YOU SAW OUR PAGEANT FOR THE SAILOR BOYS WHO FELL AT VERA CRUZ, BUT HAVE WE THOUGHT OF THE TWO HUNDRED MEXICANS WHO LIE DEAD IN THE TRENCHES AND WHO HAD NO SUCH TRIBUTE PAID TO THEM? WE HAVE NOW SOME FIFTEEN PEACE SOCIETIES, AND THEY HAVE BEEN INSTRUMENTAL IN SETTLING FIVE INTERNATIONAL DISPUTES. THE TIME WILL COME WHEN THERE SHALL BE NO MORE WAR.

Poetry For Today

THE FIRE ALARM.

When riding on their motor-trucks
I see the firemen pass,
Like soldiers dressed in uniforms
Of natty blue and brass,
I think about the volunteers
Who used, in other days,
To rally to the fire-alarm,
And battle with the blaze.

When clanged upon the midnight air
That sudden summons loud,
The people tumbled out of bed,
A wild, excited crowd.
The barking dogs ran on ahead,
And shouts and cries arose
Above the crackle of the flames,
The hissing of the hose.

To save a neighbor's little home
The axe and hose they plied,
Until among the cinders black
The lurid demon died.
The old red shirts they used to sport
Are full of moths and holes;
The men who wore them, too, are dead.—
God rest their gallant souls!

But still we fear the smoky scourge,
And tremble with affright,
When suddenly the fire-alarm
Blares out upon the night.
So here's a tribute from the heart,
A word of praise for all
The heroes of the hose and truck
Who answer to its call.

INCOLN WIRT, explorer, lecturer, author, will be one of the feature attractions on the local Chautauqua this season. Dr. Wirt's life has been a stirring one, replete with extraordinary adventures and experiences. In 1897 he was in Alaska as superintendent of Congregational church work. Here he established churches at Nome, Valdez and Douglas, as well as hospitals and libraries at other places. While thus engaged he was appointed Territorial Superintendent of Education by the United States government, founding the public schools which today are farthest north. After three years in the Arctic, Dr. Wirt spent the seven succeeding years in world-wide travel largely in the tropics, spending much time in China, Japan, the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, and throughout the South Sea Islands, Africa and Europe. From out this varied experience Dr. Wirt weaves a story marvelous in its informative and entertaining qualities. Gifted with an extraordinary ability to translate a vivid experience into words, he thrills his hearers at every step of his romantic recital.

You cannot hold one "homecoming" street carnival without giving some boys and girls a downward push.

Then cut them out!

You can not hold one Chautauqua or run one lyceum course without giving some boys and girls an upward push.

Then get behind them!

Any business man is proud to be able to say, "We have a good Chautauqua in our town," because the word Chautauqua is recognized as a symbol of culture, high ideals and broad thinking. These are things for any community to be proud of.

Great Educational Value.

The purely educational values of the Chautauqua might be elaborated upon to an almost unlimited extent, but at the same time that it may be and is educational in the most direct and effective manner it incidentally affords the cleanest of entertainment, and that at a time when much that is unclean, degrading and debasing is clamoring for attention.

Roland A. Nichols, the man who discovered Harold Bell Wright, whose novels lead all "best sellers," will be among the Chautauqua lecturers.

Because her father, Lewis M. Mr. Ream sustained the fall on February 15, 1914, and died March 3d, according to the petition. Plaintiff, who is administratrix of her father's estate, claims that the floor of the car was covered with ice, and that it was due to the negligence of the company that her father sustained the fatal fall.

FORTY MEN BUSY ON C. H. & D. TRACKS

Forty men are now at work grading the local C. H. & D. yards preparatory to laying out the new freight yards as planned under the franchise recently granted the company.

The work train arrived on the job Thursday and the yards are now a scene of activity. Plows and scrapers are being used, fills made, and within a few days the track changes will be well under way.

Work on the new freight station will begin next week, or as soon as the cement can be obtained.

General Supt. H. V. Voorhees, of the C. H. & D. spent part of the day in this city looking over the grounds and discussing plans.

In Social Circles

The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mark, one of the attractive old homesteads of the county, and which long since established its reputation in the line of that generous hospital which was a marked feature of the earlier regime, was again the scene of a large gathering, including intimate friends with the large family connection, Thursday. The occasion was the birthday of the youngest daughter, Miss Ruth Mark, giving rise to a "June" birthday dinner with half a hundred guests in attendance.

Nine of the family connection have birthdays in the month of June, so it has become a family custom to hold this birthday celebration in honor of the entire number. The honor guests with Miss Mark, were Mrs. Jane VanPelt, Mrs. Joe E. Mark, Mrs. Hulda Patton, Mrs. Claude Post, of Columbus; Mrs. Glenn Rodgers, Mrs. Tasso Post, Mr. James Beatty, of Greenfield. The ninth member of the birthday band, Mrs. Russell Evick, of Columbus, was presented from attending, but was remembered with all good wishes.

Crimson ramblers and white lilies beautified both home and large grounds and contributed to the special charm of the month of roses.

Undoubtedly the feature of the day was the picnic spread, a feast of good things that left nothing more to be added.

After the dinner young and old joined in out-of-door games and the afternoon was altogether one of the merriest on record.

Miss Hazel Post, who is just home from Ohio university, gave several entertaining readings beautifully, and Mr. L. N. Rowe added to the interest of the occasion by a graphic story of his own war experiences, including terrible days in Andersonville prison.

The guests separated late in the afternoon, fully in accord as to the advantages of a June birthday.

A number of the following invitations have been received by relatives and friends of Mr. Jesse LaMonda.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Redden request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Virgie Lee to Mr. Jess S. LaMonda at their residence 509 S. Euclid avenue, Dayton, Ohio, Wednesday evening, June 24th, 1914, at 7:30 o'clock. At home after July 15 at 81 Gordon avenue.

Mr. LaMonda was a former Washington boy and a brother to Mrs. Jasper Blackmore, Mrs. Clark Mershon, Mrs. L. M. Sellman, all of this city. His approaching marriage is a pleasant surprise to every one and the best wishes of a host of friends and relatives will follow them to the altar.

It was a trio of charming girls who gave greeting to thirty young matrons and girls Friday morning, when Miss Mary Craig entertained with a porch party in compliment to her guests, Miss Mabel Leese, of Chicago, and Miss Ellen Graham, of Clarksburg.

The large veranda, with its trailing vines and bowls of roses was very inviting, and the guests found the affair, with its informal chat over fancy work, beautiful Victrola music, and delicious collation thoroughly delightful.

NEW TREATIES ARE UNDER WARM FIRE

Secretary Bryan Again Before Senate Committee.

QUESTIONED BY THE MEMBERS

Relations Between Nicaraguan Government and American Bankers Interested in the Central American Republic Likely to Be Subject of an Investigation—Senator Smith Intimates Political Intrigue.

Washington, June 19.—An investigation of the relations between the Nicaraguan government and American bankers interested in that republic and the part the American state department may have played in Nicaraguan affairs will likely be undertaken by the senate foreign relations committee in the near future. Before the committee consents to ratify the proposed treaty with Nicaragua it is practically certain that it will use every means in its power to obtain all possible information which will bear on the treaty and what it means.

Secretary Bryan and Charles A. Douglass, attorney for the Nicaraguan government, were before the committee for several hours discussing this treaty, which would give the United States interoceanic canal rights and naval bases in exchange for $3,000,000, and the practical establishment of a protectorate over the Central American country.

Questioned by members of the committee, Mr. Bryan said that American bankers owned 51 per cent of the stock of the Nicaraguan railway and that the other 49 per cent was hypothecated for $1,000,000 to the same bankers and is now in danger of being sold under foreclosure proceedings. He said part of the $3,000,000 might be used to prevent such foreclosures and allow Nicaragua to retain a large interest in her railroad. Mr. Bryan also said that the same bankers control 51 per cent of the stock of the Nicaraguan National bank.

These two statements were heard with interest by members of the committee. They are said to be anxious to learn how Nicaragua turned over her railroad and her national bank to American financiers. Interest was also shown in the question of whether most of the $3,000,000 is to get into the Nicaraguan treasury or to be subject to the hands of politicians and others. Mr. Douglass declared that he believed the money would get to the Nicaraguan government without question.

There has been some talk in the committee about requesting interested bankers to appear and give their story of their Nicaraguan operations.

Senator Smith of Michigan, a member of the committee, who already has proposed an investigation of this matter, issued a statement declaring that the payroll of Nicaragua is filled with Americans and intimating that political intrigue by banking interests has figured in putting the present Nicaraguan government in power.

The Colombian treaty, also before the foreign relations committee, did not come up for discussion, but senators say they will investigate it also.

NAVY NEEDS MORE MONEY

Washington, June 19.—A tremendous increase in the expenses of the navy due to the recent movement of the fleet in Mexican waters prompted the secretary of the treasury to ask for a deficiency appropriation of $1,282,978. It is said in Secretary McAdoo's communication that the money is needed by the navy for coal, provisions and new uniforms for marines and land sailors.

In the reply of the U. S. COLLEGE ORATION

Played Important Part In Shaping Lecturer's Career.

When Glenn Frank of Northwestern University, then a student in the university which he now represents as field secretary, set to work on a college oration with which to win inter-collegiate honors in the annual contest between western universities, he little expected that time would make that oration one of the most potent forces for good in America. But such has proven to be the case. Frank called his oration "Morals and Machinery," (a wag of a classmate parodied it under the caption, "Morality and Moonshine") and with it he captured the classic honor won

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst's attempt to carry out her threat of a hunger strike at the entrance to the house of commons until the premier yielded to the demand that he listen to a delegation of women was largely responsible for the prime minister's decision. Efforts of James Kier Hardie, the Socialist independent member of parliament, and George Lansbury, a former member, helped the militant suffragette leader to bring the premier to his knees.

The victory is a distinct one, because Sylvia Pankhurst was arrested about a week ago for attempting to lead a procession of East End working women to Westminster to demand the audience which Mr. Asquith now has promised.

Holloway jail opened its doors to release Miss Pankhurst, who was weak deeply into a grave industrial question in America. Ripened and matured, that oration has developed into the lecture, "The Good Wrong Man," a striking interpretation of the "square deal" as applied to business affairs. Not all of Frank's hearers agree with him, as was strikingly illustrated at Sheboygan, Wis., last winter, when a leading manufacturer openly challenged the correctness of his logic, but all who hear "The Good Wrong Man" are forced to do some sound thinking on their own part. The Sheboygan incident is not yet closed. Frank standing by his guns, and a joint debate with a speaker to voice the manufacturer's side of the controversy, is a possibility.

Helping.

If you are not helping the Chautauqua, you are guilty of one of the worst sins in the category—that of indifference toward a great public demand. For there is an insistent demand for a moral and religious association broader than the sectarian church, closer to the needs of the people and more in touch with modern ideals and the new education. Help along. Don't forget that your way of thinking counts, even though you may not be able to do much in actual service.

SUMMER SCHOOL OPENS ONE WEEK FROM MONDAY

Will be Conducted Under Auspices of Y. M. C. A. and Will be in Charge of Superintendent McClain and Professor Probascio—Grades May be Included—Enrollment open to All and Many Signify Intention of Taking Course.

Under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association the regular summer school classes will open Monday, June 23 with Superintendent

William McClain and Professor O. K. Probascio in charge. The term will continue for six weeks and will be open to any one, measuring up to the usual high school work.

To date quite a number of applications have been received and it is safe to announce that the class this year will be a large one. The schooling is primarily for those who have failed in the past year's work and to those wishing to take extra work in the high school, although not confined to these.

Because of the shortness of the term and the great amount of work to be accomplished by teachers and pupils alike, one pupil may not take more than two subjects. The classes are to be held each morning in the high school building. As yet the time for the opening of the classes has not been arranged.

In connection with the usual summer work this year a new class in German will be formed and there is some talk of including in the school a course for grade pupils. This latter project, however, has advanced no further than its proposal, to date.

The teaching staff has not yet been completed but it is probable that Miss Amy Conn, Miss Prudence Culhan and C. P. Shively will compose a part of it.

NEW POLICE GONG INSTALLED TODAY

The new police warning gong recently authorized by council, was installed on the building outside the mayor's office, Friday, and can be operated from either telephone office.

The gong, an electric, can easily be heard several squares during a quiet night, and has been installed with the object of giving the police warning when they are wanted after nightfall, or in the day time when they cannot be located at police headquarters.

This eliminates the necessity of the police answering a summons by whistle, and being followed by a crowd of the curious.

A call for the police, turned into either exchange, will result in immediate warning by means of the gong.

TICKLISH WORK DRAWS ATTENTION

Many citizens have been watching with interest the work of placing the studding under the walls of the Craig Bros.' building, preparatory to removing the old front and the old stairway to make way for the beautiful new front planned.

The entire front walls have been underpinned and braced so that when the old walls and steel supports are removed it will remain in place without varying the fraction of an inch.

The work is rather "ticklish" and requires great skill on the part of those in charge, as a miscalculation would mean disaster of some kind.

So carefully are the men handling the work that there is no apparent danger, and business in the big store flows along without interruption.

FORMER LOCAL MAN IS BURIED TODAY

Rev. B. A. Cushing had charge of the services.

Mr. Montgomery died a few days ago at Huntington, W. Va., after a short illness with typhoid fever.

The deceased leaves a wife and two small children in this city.

DIVORCE GRANTED

Myra W. McGrew, Friday morning was granted a divorce from C. J. McGrew, of Jeffersonville, and also allowed $400 alimony. She was given custody of their little daughter. The case was tried in Common Pleas court

INDEPENDENCE day naturally brings thoughts of Old Glory and its first appearance in the grim business that was engaging the country at the time of its formal adoption as the national emblem. As every child knows, the flag had its statutory beginning on June 14, 1777, when congress agreed upon the design.

After the smoke had cleared away from the battle of Oriskany on Aug. 6, 1777, when Sir John Johnson and his Tories and Indians were routed, the victor of the day improvised a flag from the red petticoat of a soldier's wife, a white shirt and an old blue jacket and flung it to the breeze above the captured British standards at Fort Stanwix. That is doubtless the first time the flag appeared in the "danger zone."

When Washington got his clew eventually that Sir William Howe with 18,000 men was sailing up the Chesapeake he started his army southward, and on the way through Philadelphia they were cheered and inspired by the bands playing and "the flags flying"—some of the flags of Betsy Ross' own making, perhaps.

Howe landed twelve miles below Elkton, Md., on Aug. 25, and the fatal campaign of 1777-8 began with a collision at Cooch's bridge, only a few miles nearer Philadelphia, his objective point. A division of the British, under Lord Cornwallis, had advanced to Iron hill, an eminence sloping down to Christians creek and from which a large part of the country toward the Delaware could be observed.

On the part of the Americans a "light advance corps" had been organized under General Maxwell, with instructions to be "constantly near the enemy and give them every possible annoyance."

Stedman, an English historian of the "Origin, Progress and Termination of the American War," published his big two volume history in 1794. He was on Cornwallis' staff, and he disposes of this first engagement in seven words, telling of "dispersing the advanced guards of the enemy."

Captain John Montressor, Howe's chief of engineers, counted only three dead and twenty wounded among the British at that time, notwithstanding the fact that Morgan's famous riflemen had been shooting at the redcoats. But the cannon planted on Iron hill really did serious damage to Maxwell's men, who, having no such formidable arm, retired under pressure of a largely outnumbering foe. Delawareans are proud of the fact that the opportunity to wave the stars and stripes at the head of fighting columns came first in their state.

Franklin's Suit of Clothes.

Shortly before the outbreak of the Revolution Benjamin Franklin, then postmaster general for the American colonies, was in London trying to get fair treatment for the Americans. His petition was dismissed by the government as "groundless, scandalous and vexatious," and he lost his official post.

On returning to his lodgings that night, says Lossing's "Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution," Franklin took off the suit of clothes he had worn and declared that he would never wear it again until he should sign the degradation of England and the independence of America. More than ten years later he donned the suit again when he signed the treaty of peace which freed the United States.

WILSON WILL NOT YIELD TO HUERTA

By Associated Press.
Washington, June 19.—Mediation stands today on the brink of failure. Only concessions by President Wilson or Huerta can save it.

While the Niagara conference halted, Minister Naon, of Argentina, one of the three South American mediators, returned to Washington for a conference with Secretary Bryan and probably to see President Wilson. He plans to start back to Niagara Falls tonight to carry the word as to whether the conference will proceed or disband.

Announcement at the White House that the President stands squarely on the principles enunciated in the statement of the American delegates seemed to make it certain that the United States will not be satisfied with anything less than the choice of a man approved by the Constitutionalists to head the new provisional government.

The firm attitude of the Huerta delegates for the so-called "neutral" seemed to hold out no hope for a break in the deadlock. The situation, admittedly at another crisis, was discussed in the cabinet meeting and there was some thought of an official statement from the President himself informing the public in full in case mediation fails. Officials closest to the President declare that all talk of further armed intervention or of recognition of Carranza or Villa, at this stage, is unfounded.

Wilson stands firmly on the statement given out at Niagara Falls by the American delegates and will accept no settlement of the Mexican problem which is not based on the principles outlined therein.

EMPEROR HAD BAD GEARING SAYS SADJE

By Associated Press.

Quebec, June 19.—Odin Sadje, second mate of the steamship, Alden, testified at the Empress of Ireland inquiry today that when the Empress passed his ship on the St. Lawrence river shortly before the fatal collision with the collier, Storstad, he noticed that the Empress was steering badly and he had to port his helm to avoid her.

The testimony was introduced by counsel for the Storstad owners in corroboration of the testimony yesterday of James Galway, the quartermaster of the Empress, who said the

NAON RUSHES TO CAPITAL

By Associated Press.

Washington, June 19.—Romulo S. Naon, Minister from Argentina, and one of the mediators at the Niagara Falls conference, arrived here unexpectedly today. He did not go to the legation but took quarters in a hotel near the White House.

The return of the mediator to the capital, undoubtedly for a conference with Secretary Bryan or President Wilson, or both, at a time when the Niagara conference is marking time and threatened with failure, was regarded as highly significant.

It was thought that the mediator's visit had been one of the subjects of discussion between the President and the Secretary of State early today. It was understood that conferences with administration officials had been arranged for later in the day.

Mr. Naon and Secretary Bryan took luncheon together privately and later the Argentine minister went to the state department for a further conference. Neither would make a statement.

vessel's steering gear was defective. "Were you afraid of a collision?" Sadje was asked.

"I was. I was going to call the captain," said the witness. He added that the Empress had passed on the port side, half a mile away.

SPEED OF BRITISH POLO PLAYERS TOOK AMERICANS BY SURPRISE

The American polo players were beaten at their own game in the first match for the international trophy. Last year our boys started off with a rush and had the invaders all at sea in no time. FOUR HUNDRED MINERS MEET UNTIMELY DEATH

By Associated Press.

Calgary, Alberta, June 19.—Two hundred men are believed to have been trapped and killed as the result of an explosion in the Hill Crest collieries near Franklin, on the Crow's Nest line, this morning. About 600 men went into the mine before the explosion occurred. More than 400 escaped, but 200 are left and it is said there is no hope for them.

BAFFLING MYSTERY

By Associated Press.

Ashtabula, O., June 19.—The police are baffled over the mysterious finding of Albert Randall, 35, a street car motorman, in the front of his home here early today with three bullet holes in his head while his house was burning. Randall was half dressed and wrapped in a blanket when found. He drew $60 pay yesterday and it is thought that robbery was the motive of the crime.

FLEEING FROM SEIGE OF TEPIC

By Associated Press.

On Board United States Ship California, Mazatlan, June 18.—Wireless to Santiago, June 19.—Refugees arriving here today by the Pacific mail liner, City of Para, report that conditions in the besieged city of Tepic are deplorable, but the censor is so strict that no details were obtained. Forty American refugees left for San Francisco today on the Para. The long strain of the siege and the shortage of food are driving out even those foreigners who hitherto have been most obstinate in the defense of their business interests.

CROBAUGH LEAD BAR APPLICANTS

By Associated Press.

Columbus, June 19.—Samuel C. Crobaugh, of Cleveland, with a grade of 94.3 per cent, was the honored member of a class of 285 applicants who took the state bar examination recently, it was announced today. Five women were among those who passed. Those who passed will be sworn in Thursday, June 25. Among those to be admitted to practice are Stanley L. Orr, of Chillicothe, and Carl C. Hoyt, of Marietta.

BOTH SIDES HOLD ON TENACIOUSLY

By Associated Press.

Niagara Falls, June 19.—The American and Huerta delegates hold firmly today to the opposite views expressed by them in public statements signifying the type of man desired by each side for provisional president of Mexico. Both sides have gone on record before the world with the prospect that neither will give way and the deadlock will result in the complete breakdown of mediation.

Only the abandonment of the academic discussion of the type of man and the continuance of the search for an individual acceptable to all, can return the situation from its hopeless state toward the channel of possible solution.

The American delegates still have some names to submit but the Huerta delegates have opposed energetically all persons suggested thus far and there is little likelihood that any name from the American delegates will be considered.

Shortly before noon the mediators announced that no conferences would be held until tomorrow because Minister Naon of Argentina had gone to Washington. It was understood that he seeks to learn at first hand if the American secretary of state has any information that would seem to make it advisable to continue the conferences.

Just before the American delegates were notified that there would be no conference today they were in communication with the Washington government by telephone. It is understood that they received instructions to stand by their attitude as outlined in the statement of last night and to insist on the acceptance of the American plan.

If mediation ends, but for the presence of American troops at Vera Cruz, it is believed the American government might resume its attitude of passive observation while the two contending factions in Mexico settled the issue. It is this phase of the situation, however, which embarrasses the American government and by which the course of developments, it is believed, may be shaped.

With Roosevelt Not Speaking?

The announcement is made that on account of serious throat trouble Colonel Roosevelt will not make any speeches during the coming campaigns.

That news is at once distressing to the personal friends of the ex-President and discouraging to his political followers.

The members of the Progressive party had been counting fully as much upon the efforts of Colonel Roosevelt and his activity in a strenuous speaking campaign as they had upon the inherent strength of their party platform, as means to securing a heavy vote in the elections this fall.

It is doubtful if there is another man in the United States today, who commands as large a political following as Colonel Roosevelt.

He can, perhaps, by personal activity, influence as many voters as any other man. With Colonel Roosevelt on the stump actually, openly and actively fighting for the principles of the Progressive party, the members of that political organization had reason to feel encouraged over the prospect of ultimate success.

With Colonel Roosevelt unable to give support in an active speaking campaign the Progressive party is bound to lose some of that enthusiastic confidence so essential to success.

With Colonel Roosevelt absent from the firing line in the campaign this fall, no matter how sincerely he may favor the party policies, one of the greatest, if not the greatest, incentive to the Progressives to fight is lost, and the strength of the third party in the forthcoming campaign ceases to be one about which any intelligent estimate can be made. It becomes rather a matter of guess work.

Political leaders, many of them, will be quick to attribute the absence of Colonel Roosevelt from the stump during the campaign to other causes than that now announced. The effect of such an announcement will serve also to encourage those whom Colonel Roosevelt has opposed politically and for that reason will render the Progressive party strength in the fall elections a debatable question.

Personal and political followers of Colonel Roosevelt are hopeful that the sentence of absolute cessation from a speaking campaign, which the physicians have pronounced, will be modified and that in spite of the gloomy outlook at present, the voice of the strenuous ex-President may be heard this fall in all its eloquent advocacy of the principles of the Progressive party which he launched at Chicago two years ago.

No political organization in the history of the nation ever registered the strength, in the initial campaign of its existence, that the Progressive party registered in the campaign of 1912. That that strength was largely due to the popularity and the activities—the personal strength, if you please—of Colonel Roosevelt, no student of affairs will seriously deny. Few men in the history of this country have broken away from their political moorings and launched a new political party with the brilliant audacity and under the spectacular surroundings that Col. Roosevelt did at Chicago. Few men ever occupied the public position which made it possible to do so. The assertion that the birth of the Progressive party and its phenomenal showing two years ago was largely due to Colonel Roosevelt can not be denied.

Whether, successful in its initial campaign, that party will be able to hold its original strength and to gain more strength with the party founder unable to speak in its defense and in advocacy of its principles is a question which can only be answered after the votes are counted out next November.

The announcement that Colonel Roosevelt will be unable to make any political speeches this fall has brought about a considerable change on the face of the political chess board and others will be made if the orders of Colonel Roosevelt's physicians are enforced literally and strictly.

No Problem but Can Be Settled In Better Way Than by Arms

By the Rev. H. ALFORD BOOGES of Princeton Presbyterian Church, Philadelphia

IN TIMES OF PEACE LOOK OUT FOR WAR. WAR, I SAY, WAS BORN IN HELL. THERE IS NO PROBLEM SO DIFFICULT BUT CAN BE SETTLED IN A BETTER WAY THAN BY FORCE OF ARMS. SOME OF YOU SAW OUR PAGEANT FOR THE SAILOR BOYS WHO FELL AT VERA CRUZ, BUT HAVE WE THOUGHT OF THE TWO HUNDRED MEXICANS WHO LIE DEAD IN THE TRENCHES AND WHO HAD NO SUCH TRIBUTE PAID TO THEM? WE HAVE NOW SOME FIFTEEN PEACE SOCIETIES, AND THEY HAVE BEEN INSTRUMENTAL IN SETTLING FIVE INTERNATIONAL DISPUTES. THE TIME WILL COME WHEN THERE SHALL BE NO MORE WAR.

Poetry For Today

THE FIRE ALARM.

When riding on their motor-trucks
I see the fireman pass,
Like soldiers dressed in uniforms
Of natty blue and brass,
I think about the volunteers
Who used, in other days,
To rally to the fire-alarm,
And battle with the blaze.

When clanged upon the midnight air
That sudden summons loud,
The people tumbled out of bed,
A wild, excited crowd.
The barking dogs ran on ahead,
And shouts and cries arose
Above the crackle of the flames,
The hissing of the hose.

To save a neighbor's little home
The axe and hose they plied,
Until among the cinders black
The lurid demon died.
The old red shirts they used to sport
Are full of moths and holes;
The men who wore them, too, are dead.—
God rest their gallant souls!

But still we fear the smoky scourge,
And tremble with affright,
When suddenly the fire-alarm
Blares out upon the night.
So here's a tribute from the heart,
A word of praise for all
The heroes of the hose and truck
Who answer to its call.

INCOLN WIRT, explorer, lecturer, author, will be one of the feature attractions on the local Chautauqua this season. Dr. Wirt's life has been a stirring one, replete with extraordinary adventures and experiences. In 1897 he was in Alaska as superintendent of Congregational church work. Here he established churches at Nome, Valdez and Douglas, as well as hospitals and libraries at other places. While thus engaged he was appointed Territorial Superintendent of Education by the United States government, founding the public schools which today are farthest north. After three years in the Arctic, Dr. Wirt spent the seven succeeding years in world-wide travel largely in the tropics, spending much time in China, Japan, the Philippines, Australia, New Zealand, and throughout the South Sea Islands, Africa and Europe. From out this varied experience Dr. Wirt weaves a story marvelous in its informative and entertaining qualities. Gifted with an extraordinary ability to translate a vivid experience into words, he thrills his hearers at every step of his romantic recital.

You cannot hold one "homecoming" street carnival without giving some boys and girls a downward push.

Then cut them out!

You can not hold one Chautauqua or run one lyceum course without giving some boys and girls an upward push.

Then get behind them!

Any business man is proud to be able to say, "We have a good Chautauqua in our town," because the word Chautauqua is recognized as a symbol of culture, high ideals and broad thinking. These are things for any community to be proud of.

Roland A. Nichols, the man who discovered Harold Bell Wright, whose novels lead all "best sellers," will be among the Chautauqua lecturers.

BREMEN BUSINESS MEN ARE HERE AFTER KYLE FACTORY

Thirty-four Hustlers From the Oil City Motor Over Friday Morning and Announce That They Are Ready to Close Deal for Factory—Condemn Macadam Streets and Praise the Y. M. C. A.

Thirty-four men from the Bremen Chamber of Commerce, motored to this city Friday morning for the purpose of discussing plans and closing up for the removal of the Kyle Manufacturing plant, formerly the Wonder Stove Factory, to Bremen.

Upon their arrival the men stopped at the Cherry Hotel, and after a rest inspected the factory, after which a committee met to consider plans for removing the factory to Bremen, going into conference with representatives of Mr. Kyle soon afternoon.

The thirty-four men from the hustling town of 1,500 souls, included Mayor A. T. Turner, representative from Fairfield county; Rev. J. V. Stone, J. E. Purvis, better known as "The Oil King"; David F. Bell, Isaac Blosser, H. D. McCandlish, B. F. Curtis, A. C. Snyder, Jas. Kennedy, L. H. Kennedy, H. M. Shellhauer, Edw. Stewart, G. W. Baldwin, S. W. Lihman, Eli Ruff, John T. Eversole, S. W. Wright, Geo. Gordan, A. E. Young, Jas. A. Turner, W. A. Sauffer, J. H. Deshonho, W. H. Wighton, Lincoln

Oliver, A. T. Hoeing, P. D. Turner, W. C. Rickett, Don Pierce, J. C. Olive, Carl Price, L. B. Kinzer, S. J. Blosser, S. T. Rowler, A. O. Huffin.

All of the men, or virtually all of them, were made wealthy by the oil industry, and J. E. Purvis is reported to be a several times millionaire.

All of the men took deep interest in every part of the city, particularly the Y. M. C. A. and the city streets. All were enthusiastic over the Y. M. C. A. and announced that Bremen must have a good one in the near future.

The remarkable part about the group of thirty-four men is that every one of them, with possibly one exception, is a member of some church and attends regularly.

"Why is it that a city as live as Washington appears to be, has such poor streets?" This question was asked by many of the men, who were dumbfounded to find so little paving in this city.

"Why, over with us, we have all kinds of paving in our little town," one man said in speaking of the lack of paving in Washington. It was a great surprise to all when they learned how little paving Washington really has.

Thursday a delegation from London was here to view the factory, and Friday afternoon several Columbus men arrived to look into the proposition.

IMPERIAL STAFF SCORES SUCCESS

The one hundred and twenty-five or more local Odd Fellows who attended the second day session of the Annual Grand Lodge Convention in Dayton Thursday, returned home well pleased with their entertainment in the Gem City.

What was unanimously conceded by the thousands of Odd Fellows present to be one of the most pleasing features of the convention, was the first degree work of the Imperial Staff of the local lodge, conferred on a large class of candidates Thursday afternoon before more than 3,000 attending Odd Fellows and the frequent and hearty applause from the spectators is another proof of the superior work of the Imperial.

WOMAN AND LITTLE TOTS DESERTED IN THIS CITY

Soap Salesman Said to Have Promised to Meet Family Here, But Leaves Them in Penniless Condition—Police Go to South Charleston to Arrest Him and Bring Him Back to Face the Music.

Chief of Police D. L. Moore and Patrolman Baughn went to South Charleston Friday morning on a search for D. F. Smith, charged with deserting his wife and four small children, who came to this city Monday in search of the wayward husband and father, whom it is alleged, had promised to meet them here.

Smith, who is a soap salesman, left his family in Dayton some three weeks ago, according to the story given to the police by Mrs. Smith, and since that time has not contributed toward the support of the wife and four small children.

Monday the woman and her four little tots, who range in age from two to eight years, arrived in this city and when Smith did not show up she notified the police, who conducted a quiet search for the missing man, but all to no avail. It was necessary to assist the woman financially, and this was done by several big hearted men, who obtained quarters for the woman and her little flock at the Brady boarding house on West Market street. The woman shows every trace of refinement, and the youngsters, with their friendly manner, have won many friends here.

According to the story told by Mrs. Smith, the man left her once before, and she caused his arrest. He then promised to do better, but it is now claimed that he has repeated his former offense.

It is claimed that Smith and his family were engaged in light house-keeping in Dayton before he left his family.

When the police learned that the man had gone from this city to South Charleston, they immediately decided to go after him, and bear the expense themselves.

In Social Circles

The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mark, one of the attractive old homesteads of the county, and which long since established its reputation in the line of that generous hospital, which was a marked feature of the earlier regime, was again the scene of a large gathering, including some of the large family with the large family connection, Thursday.

The occasion was the birthday of the youngest daughter, Miss Ruth Mark, giving rise to a "June" birthday dinner with half a hundred guests in attendance.

Nine of the family connection have birthdays in the month of June, so it has become a family custom to hold this birthday celebration in honor of the entire number. The honor guests with Miss Mark, were Mrs. Jane VanPelt, Mrs. Joe E. Mark, Mrs. Hulda Patton, Mrs. Claude Post, of Columbus; Mrs. Glenn Rodgers, Mrs. Tasso Post, Mr. James Beatty, of Greenfield.

The ninth member of the birthday band, Mrs. Russell Evick, of Columbus, was presented from attending, but was remembered with all good wishes.

Crimson ramblers and white lilies beautified both home and large grounds and contributed to the special charm of the month of roses.

Undoubtedly the feature of the day was the picnic spread, a feast of good things that left nothing more to be added.

After the dinner young and old joined in out-of-door games and the afternoon was altogether one of the merriest on record.

Miss Hazel Post, who is just home from Ohio university, gave several entertaining readings beautifully, and Mr. I. N. Rowe added to the interest of the occasion by a graphic story of his own war experiences, including terrible days in Andersonville prison.

The guests separated late in the afternoon, fully in accord as to the advantages of a June birthday.

A number of the following invitations have been received by relatives and friends of Mr. Jesse LaMonda:

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Redden request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Virgie Lee to Mr. Jesse S. LaMonda at their residence 509 S. Euclid avenue, Dayton, Ohio, Wednesday evening, June 24th, 1914, at 7:30 o'clock. At home after July 15 at 81 Gordon avenue.

Mr. LaMonda was a former Washington boy and a brother to Mrs. Jasper Blackmore, Mrs. Clark Mershon, Mrs. L. M. Sellman, all of this city. His approaching marriage is a pleasant surprise to every one and the best wishes of a host of friends and relatives will follow them to the altar.

It was a trio of charming girls who gave greeting to thirty young matrons and girls Friday morning, when Miss Mary Craig entertained with a porch party in compliment to her guests, Miss Mabel Leese, of Chicago, and Miss Ellen Graham, of Clarksburg.

The large veranda, with its trailing vines and bowls of roses was very inviting, and the guests found the affair, with its informal chat over fancy work, beautiful Victrola music, and delicious collation thoroughly delightful.

NEW TREATIES ARE UNDER WARM FIRE

Secretary Bryan Again Before Senate Committee.

QUESTIONED BY THE MEMBERS

Relations Between Nicaraguan Government and American Bankers Interested In the Central American Republic Likely to Be Subject of an Investigation—Senator Smith Intimates Political Intrigue.

Washington, June 19.—An investigation of the relations between the Nicaraguan government and American bankers interested in that republic and the part the American state department may have played in Nicaraguan affairs will likely be undertaken by the senate foreign relations committee in the near future. Before the committee consents to ratify the proposed treaty with Nicaragua it is practically certain that it will use every means in its power to obtain all possible information which will bear on the treaty and what it means.

Secretary Bryan and Charles A. Douglass, attorney for the Nicaraguan government, were before the committee for several hours discussing this treaty, which would give the United States interoceanic canal rights and naval bases in exchange for $3,000,000, and the practical establishment of a protectorate over the Central American country.

Questioned by members of the committee, Mr. Bryan said that American bankers owned 51 per cent of the stock of the Nicaraguan railway and that the other 49 per cent was hypothecated for $1,000,000 to the same bankers and is now in danger of being sold under foreclosure proceedings. He said part of the $3,000,000 might be used to prevent such foreclosures and allow Nicaragua to retain a large interest in her railroad. Mr. Bryan also said that the same bankers control 51 per cent of the stock of the Nicaraguan National bank.

These two statements were heard with interest by members of the committee. They are said to be anxious to learn how Nicaragua turned over her railroad and her national bank to American financiers. Interest was also shown in the question of whether most of the $3,000,000 is to get into the Nicaraguan treasury or to be subject to the hands of politicians and others. Mr. Douglass declared that he believed the money would get to the Nicaraguan government without question.

There has been some talk in the committee about requesting interested bankers to appear and give their story of their Nicaraguan operations.

Senator Smith of Michigan, a member of the committee, who already has proposed an investigation of this matter, issued a statement declaring that the payroll of Nicaragua is filled with Americans and intimating that political intrigue by banking interests has figured in putting the present Nicaraguan government in power.

The Colombian treaty, also before the foreign relations committee, did not come up for discussion, but senators say they will investigate it also.

NAVY NEEDS MORE MONEY

Washington, June 19.—A tremendous increase in the expenses of the navy due to the recent movement of the fleet in Mexican waters prompted the secretary of the treasury to ask for a deficiency appropriation of $1,282,978. It is said in Secretary McAdoo's communication that the money is needed by the navy for coal, provisions and new uniforms for marines and land sailors.

CHANGE PROPOSED IN INCOME TAX ACT

Collectors May Be Given Broader Inquisitorial Power.

Washington, June 19.—Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo has made his first move in his campaign against the income tax evaders. He sent a communication to Congress recommending an amendment to the law which will give the revenue collectors broader inquisitorial power. This is the first chance to be proposed in the income tax law, and it follows closely on the heels of the acknowledgment by Mr. McAdoo that the income tax on individuals will yield for the present fiscal year not much more than half the amount estimated.

The amendment proposed is aimed chiefly at checking up in the matter of stock dividends. Under the present law the individual in paying the normal tax is permitted to deduct such dividends because of the tax of 1 per cent imposed on corporations. Apparently the internal revenue people feel that some deductions have been made on that score that may not be warranted.

and pale after her eighth successive hunger strike, but still determined. She was sitting on the steps of the central entrance to parliament house, propped up with cushions and supported in the arms of friends, when Mr. Lansbury came out with the news that Premier Asquith had surrendered.

COLLEGE ORATION

Played Important Part In Shaping Lecturer's Career.

London, June 19.—Premier Asquith has capitulated to the suffragettes. He has consented to receive a deputation of East End working women tomorrow morning. Miss Sylvia Pankhurst's attempt to carry out her threat of a hunger strike at the entrance to the house of commons until the premier yielded to the demand that he listen to a delegation of women was largely responsible for the prime minister's decision. Efforts of James Kier Hardie, the Socialist independent member of parliament, and George Lansbury, a former member, helped the militant suffragette leader to bring the premier to his knees.

The victory is a distinct one, because Sylvia Pankhurst was arrested about a week ago for attempting to lead a procession of East End women to Westminster to demand the audience which Mr. Asquith now has promised.

Premier Agrees to Receive Deputation of Work Women.

London, June 19.—Premier Asquith has capitulated to the suffragettes. He has consented to receive a deputation of East End working women tomorrow morning.

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst's attempt to carry out her threat of a hunger strike at the entrance to the house of commons until the premier yielded to the demand that he listen to a delegation of women was largely responsible for the prime minister's decision. Efforts of James Kier Hardie, the Socialist independent member of parliament, and George Lansbury, a former member, helped the militant suffragette leader to bring the premier to his knees.

The victory is a distinct one, because Sylvia Pankhurst was arrested about a week ago for attempting to lead a procession of East End women to Westminster to demand the audience which Mr. Asquith now has promised.

Holloway jail opened its doors to release Miss Pankhurst, who was weak deeply into a grave industrial question in America. Ripened and matured, that oration has developed into the lecture, "The Good Wrong Man," a striking interpretation of the "square deal" as applied to business affairs. Not all of Frank's hearers agree with him, as was strikingly illustrated at Sheboygan, Wis., last winter, when a leading manufacturer openly challenged the correctness of his logic, but all who hear "The Good Wrong Man" are forced to do some sound thinking on their own part. The Sheboygan incident is not yet closed. Frank standing by his guns, and a joint debate with a speaker to voice the manufacturer's side of the controversy, is a possibility.

TEN INJURED

Cleveland, June 19.—Ten firemen were injured when the roof of the Atlantic Foundry company's plant collapsed while the men were on it fighting a blaze that threatened the building. The firemen dropped twenty feet into the flames. They were rescued with difficulty.

Mr. Vandeman, a paint expert representing the B. P. S. Paint, will be at our store Friday and Saturday, 19 and 20 June. Please call and talk with him, whether you want paint or not, his ideas may aid you at some future time.

TALE OF "WHISKERS" IS NEVER FORGOTTEN

Lincoln Wirt Will Tell It at Local Chautauqua.

"Whiskers," the grizzled leader of the Eskimo dog pack which carried Lincoln Wirt on the quest for help for his sick and ice-imprisoned companions in the frozen north deserves a place in contemporary renown with "Bob, Son of Battle," and other famous dogs, the record of whose lives has given new meaning to the word devotion.

Side by side with a tale of human grit and perseverance capable of standing with any exploit in history runs the story of "Whiskers," and, as told by Dr. Wirt, it grips human heart chords with telling effect. Once heard, the story of "Whiskers'" game fight in the last mile of a painful sledge journey is never forgotten, the almost human understanding of the dog charged with responsibility in a battle of man and beast against the grim forces of death stirring every hearer to tears.

Human life and practical religion are interwoven in the story told by Dr. Wirt in the "Conquest of the Arctic," and through it all marches the unquenchable spirit of "Whiskers," companion and friend.

More practical geography of Alaska, its physical characteristics, its bird and animal life, its people and their habits, its possibilities and its limitations, are set forth in Lincoln Wirt's lecture on "The Conquest of the Arctic," than can be found in a dozen text books on the subject, and young people will be so fascinated with the story of adventure, sugar-coating the pills of information, that they will never know they have imbibed the knowledge.

INDEPENDENCE day naturally brings thoughts of Old Glory and its first appearance in the grim business that was engaging the country at the time of its formal adoption as the national emblem. As every child knows, the flag had its statutory beginning on June 14, 1777, when congress agreed upon the design.

After the smoke had cleared away from the battle of Oriskany on Aug. 6, 1777, when Sir John Johnson and his Tories and Indians were routed, the victor of the day improvised a flag from the red petticoat of a soldier's wife, a white shirt and an old blue jacket and flung it to the breeze above the captured British standards at Fort Stanwix. That is doubtless the first time the flag appeared in the "danger zone."

When Washington got his clew eventually that Sir William Howe with 18,000 men was sailing up the Chesapeake he started his army southward, and on the way through Philadelphia they were cheered and inspired by the bands playing and "the flags flying"—some of the flags of Betsy Ross' own make, perhaps.

Howe landed twelve miles below Elizabethtown, Md., on Aug. 25, and the fatal campaign of 1777-8 began with a collision at Cooch's bridge, only a few miles nearer Philadelphia, his objective point. A division of the British, under Lord Cornwallis, had advanced to Iron hill, an eminence sloping down to Christiana creek and from which a large part of the country toward the Delaware could be observed.

On the part of the Americans a "light advance corps" had been organized under General Maxwell, with instructions to be "constantly near the enemy and give them every possible annoyance." Stedman, an English historian of the "Origin, Progress and Termination of the American War," published his big two volume history in 1794. He was on Cornwallis' staff, and he disposes of this first engagement in seven words, telling of "dispersing the advanced guards of the enemy." Captain John Montressor, Howe's chief of engineers, counted only three dead and twenty wounded among the British at that time, notwithstanding the fact that Morgan's famous riflemen had been shooting at the redcoats. But the cannon planted on Iron hill really did serious damage to Maxwell's men, who, having no such formidable arm, duly retired under pressure of a largely outnumbering foe. Delawareans are proud of the fact that the opportunity to wave the stars and stripes at the head of fighting columns came first in their state.

Franklin's Suit of Clothes.

Shortly before the outbreak of the Revolution Benjamin Franklin, then postmaster general for the American colonies, was in London trying to get fair treatment for the Americans. His petition was dismissed by the government as "groundless, scandalous and vexatious," and he lost his official post. On returning to his lodgings that night, says Lossing's "Pictorial Field Book of the Revolution," Franklin took off the suit of clothes he had worn and declared that he would never wear it again until he should sign the degradation of England and the independence of America. More than ten years later he donned the suit again when he signed the treaty of peace which freed the United States.

British Earl Fought For America.

One of the most interesting figures of the Revolutionary war period in America was the Earl of Stirling, who fought for American independence. He was the only British peer who served in the American army, and he was a warm friend of George Washington. He held the rank of major general in the American army. Lord Stirling lived the greater part of his life in America, was married to a New York lady and died in Albany, N. Y., in 1783.
